Urban areas whose boundaries were extended under the Local Government Act, 1994 121

Foreword

The local elections which took place in June, 1994 were unique in a number of respects. For the first time, elections to borough councils, urban district councils and town commissions took place on their own, unaccompanied by elections to county councils and county borough corporations. For the purpose of the elections, the boundaries of 56 of the 80 local authorities concerned were extended to take in their built-up environs, thus making it possible for all electors resident in these towns to vote at urban elections. The local authority members elected in 1994 will hold office until June, 1998 when elections to all local authorities, including county councils and county borough corporations, will take place.

I considered it appropriate to mark the occasion by the publication in a single report of the detailed results of the elections to the 80 authorities concerned. I trust that the report will be of particular interest to students of politics and local government and to practitioners in public representation at all levels.

Minister for the Environment

Introduction

Election of members to local authorities at sub-county level took place in June 1994. Members were elected to a total of 80 authorities comprising 5 borough councils, 49 urban district councils and 26 town commissions.

The boroughs of Drogheda and Sligo and the urban districts of Bray and Dundalk were divided into electoral areas for the purposes of the elections. In all, elections were held in 89 electoral areas.

The general polling day was Thursday, 9th June but, arising from the death of a candidate, the poll at the election for Castlebar urban district council was deferred to Saturday, 18th June. The death of a candidate in Electoral Area No. 2 of Drogheda borough did not involve deferral of the poll in that area. In the case of Cootehill town commission, nine candidates were nominated to fill the nine vacancies and were declared elected without a poll.

Polls were also taken on 9th June at the election of representatives to the European Parliament, Dáil bye-elections in the constituencies of Dublin South-Central and Mayo West and elections of members to Údarás na Gaeltachta.

Every person aged 18 years and upwards, irrespective of nationality or citizenship, is entitled to be registered as a local government elector and to vote at local elections in the electoral area in which the person ordinarily resides. The total number of persons entitled to vote at the 1994 local elections was 429,431 and the electorate for individual authorities varied from 19,508 in Dundalk urban district to 891 in Granard town. The number who voted was 251,605 (59%).

The following table sets out the percentage of the electorate represented by total votes cast at the 1994 elections and previous local elections:

	1974 %	1979 %	1985 %	1994 %
Borough & Urban District Councils	65	64	62	59
Town Commissioners	70	70	66	56
TOTAL	66	65	64	59

Invalid votes at the 1994 elections represented 1.02% of the total votes cast.

Subject to specified disqualifications and incompatibilities, every person aged 18 years and upwards, who is a citizen of Ireland or, not being a citizen, is ordinarily resident in the State, is eligible for election as a member of a local authority. At the 1994 elections a total of 1,445 candidates stood for election to 744 seats. The members elected will hold office until June 1998 when, in accordance with the Local Government Act, 1994, elections will take place for every local authority, including county councils and county borough councils. Elections to county councils and county borough councils took place in June 1991.

The statutory basis for holding elections for the local authorities concerned (borough councils, urban district councils and town commissions) in 1994 was provided by section 14 of the Local Government Act, 1994. The detailed procedure at the elections was governed mainly by the Local Elections Regulations, 1965, the Local Elections (Amendment) Regulations, 1974 and the Electoral (Amendment) (No. 2) Act, 1986.

As part of the continuing programme of local government reform, the Local Government Act, 1994 provided for the extension of the boundaries of urban areas in order to bring within these areas development which has taken place outside the existing boundaries and to extend the right to vote at urban elections to electors resident in the urban environs. Under this provision the boundaries of 56 urban local authorities were extended for the purposes of the 1994 local elections.

This publication sets out the detailed results of the elections for each of the local authorities concerned. It also contains general statistics in relation to the number of seats, candidates and electors and the percentage of first preference votes for each political party and the number of seats obtained by each.

This is the first occasion on which detailed results of elections for sub-county local authorities were published in a single publication. Previous reports on local elections provided such detail in relation only to county councils and county borough councils.
