INTRODUCTION

Postponement of 1990 local elections
The local elections which were due to be held in June, 1990 were postponed for one year by the Local Elections (Specification of Local Election Year) Order, 1990, (S.I. No. 104 of 1990) made by the Minister for the Environment on 30th April, 1990 and confirmed by both Houses of the Oireachtas. The purpose of the postponement was to enable a review of the local government structures and system to be undertaken.

Local Government Reorganisation
In April, 1990 the Government announced the setting up of a special Cabinet Sub-Committee, under the chairmanship of the Minisiter for the Environment (Mr. Padraig Flynn, TD) to consider proposals for local government reorganisation and reform. The Cabinet Sub-Committee was assisted by an Advisory Expert Committee chaired by Dr. T. J. Barrington, former Director of the Institute of Public Administration.

Having considered recommendations made by the Cabinet Sub-Committee and the Report of the Advisory Expert Committee ("Local Government Reorgansiation and Reform", Pl. 7918) the Government in March, 1991 announced a comprehensive programme of reform designed to strengthen local democracy, to improve the system of local government and increase its role and to give local authorities the capacity to serve the interests of the community more effectively.

The Programme envisaged that the local government system would be structured generally on three levels, regional, county and sub-county:

> the county or city would continue to be the primary unit of local government and the executing authority for major infrastructural works and for services which require a county scale;
> eight regional authorities, consisting of elected members nominated by the relevant county and county borough councils, would be established to promote co-ordination of public services in each region;
> the sub-county structure would be further examined with a view to formulating acceptable and realistic structural arrangements. (The Advisory Expert Committee had failed to agree on a sub-county structure and had outlined two widely divergent options—directly elected district councils or district committees of the county council).

In relation to the Dublin area, Dublin Corporation would remain and three new authorities would be established to replace Dublin County Council and Dun Laoghaire Corporation.

Local authorities would be given a general competence to act in the interests of their areas and communities, unnecessary and outmoded statutory controls and procedures would be repealed and provision would be made for the devolution of functions to local authorities. In relation to elected members, there would be express statutory recognition of their policy-making role, additional functions would be reserved for performance by them and further steps would be taken to enhance their civic role.

Having regard to the complexity of the legislation required and the volume of other work which implementation would entail, it was envisaged that the reform programme would be put in place on a phased basis. The enactment of the Local Government Act, 1991 represented the first major measure in the reform programme.

Local Government Act, 1991
The Act contained specific provisions to enable the local elections to proceed in the context of local government reform. These provisions included the postponement of certain urban elections pending further consideration of local government structures at sub-county level, the establishment of three electoral counties in Dublin (Fingal, South Dublin and Dun Laoghaire—Rathdown) and the exclusion of Ministers and Ministers of State from membership of local authorities.

In addition to the provisions relating to electoral matters, the principal reform measures may be grouped under three main headings:

Structural Reform
- establishment after the local elections of eight regional co-ordinating authorities comprised of local authority members;
- providing a process whereby three separate county councils will be established to replace the existing Dublin County Council and Dun Laoghaire Corporation; — comprehensive up-date of provisions for boundary alterations, including provision for establishment of boundary advisory committees to review local boundaries;

— a flexible provision for the establishment by local authorities of committees and joint committees.

Increased competence for local authorities

— express statutory recognition of the representational role of local authorities;

— general competence to take action in the interests of the local community, thus modifying the ultra vires rule;

— capacity to take action ancillary to any power conferred on local authorities;

— provision for devolution of functions from central to local government;

— provision for removal of unnecessary controls and procedures.

Enhanced role for elected members

— statutory recognition of general policy-making role of local authority members;

— specification by order of additonal functions to be reserved for performance by elected members;

— provision for payment of allowance for expenses to chairman of local authority;

— up-dated provision for payment of expenses to local authority members;

— provision for civic honours, reception of distinguished persons, town twinning, annual report;

— amendment of "section 4" procedure in relation to planning functions.

Local Elections, 1991

Under the Local Government Act, 1991, elections to borough councils, urban district councils and town commissions were deferred until such time as decisions are taken on the reform of local government structures at sub-county level. Elections to county councils and county borough councils took place in June 1991 in the normal way. Every elector, including those resident in borough, urban district and town commission areas had the right to vote at these elections. The postponement of urban elections affected only the 15% of the electorate who would normally have a vote at an urban election in addition to a vote at the county council election. On this occasion, every elector had the right to vote at the election for one local authority. In Dublin elections were held for Dublin Corporation and the electoral counties of Fingal, South Dublin and Dun Laoghaire—Rathdown.

The elections took place throughout the country on Thursday, 27th June, 1991. The local government electorate was 2,536,844 and a total of 1,974 candidates stood for election to 883 seats in 177 local electoral areas. The elections were contested in every local electoral area except Granard, County Longford where the number of candidates equalled the number of members to be elected. The three candidates nominated for the electoral area were declared elected without a poll.

For comparison purposes the following table sets out the percentage of the electorate represented by total votes cast at the 1991 local elections and previous local elections:—

| | 1967 % | 1974 % | 1979 % | 1985 % | 1991 % |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| County Borough Councils, except Dublin | 67 | 57 | 59 | 51 | 54 |
| Dublin County Borough Council | 52 | 40 | 48 | 43 | 43 |
| County Councils | 72 | 68 | 67 | 63 | 58 |
| Borough and Urban District Councils | 69 | 65 | 64 | 62 | — |
| Town Commissioners | 73 | 70 | 70 | 66 | — |
| Total | 67 | 62 | 64 | 60 | 56 |

Invalid votes at the elections represented 0.92% of the total votes cast.

This publication provides detailed results of the elections, including transfer of votes, for each county and county borough local electoral area.

In regard to the statistical tables, Table A shows in summary form for each county and county borough council, the number of seats, the number of electors on the 1991/92 register of local government electors, the total numbers of votes cast, the percentage of electors who voted, the number of invalid votes, invalid votes as a percentage of the total votes cast and the valid poll. Table B shows for each county and county borough the number of candidates, the percentage of first preference votes and the number of seats for each political party. Table C contains an analysis of the invalid votes.

In accordance with the Local Elections Regulations, 1965 the names of the registered political parties to which candidates are affiliated may be shown on the ballot papers. Such party affiliations are also shown in this report.
